WILHELM NEVER IDLE

GERMANY'S EMPEROR THE BUSIEST MONARCH IN EUROPE.

Last Week's Work a Fair Example of How He Employs His Time-Caprivi and Eulenberg at War.

(Copyrighted, 1894, by the Associated Press.) BERLIN, Oct. 20 .- The feverish activity of Emperor William was never better exemplified than during the last week. The early part was occupied with flitting from town to town, attending different ceremonies, while he has been engaged during the latter part of the week by various public and social functions in connection with the visit of King Alexander of Servia. The rapidity of his Majesty's movements was especially shown at the beginning of the week. He spent Sunday at Friedrichshof Castle, the residence of his mother, ex-Empress Frederick. Monday he arose at an early hour and started for Darmstadt to visit the grand ducal family. On Tuesday he went to Wiesbaden to unveil the statue of his grandfather, William I, and to open the new Royal Theater at that place. After a busy day there he traveled by special train at night and arrived in Berlin just before 10 o'clock in the morning, in time to take part in the ceremony of nailing to their staffs the 132 flags destined for the new fourth battalions of infantry. After another couple of busy days, including the interesting ceremony of blessing and presenting these flags, gala dinners, fetes and ceremonies, during which he found time to attend to state business, to-day found him engaged with internal politics.

At noon the Emperor received a deputation from the Farmers' Alliance of East Prussia. His Majesty was attended by Count Botho Zu Eulenburg, president of the Council of Ministers; Dr. Von Lucanus, chief of the Emperor's Civil Cabinet, and Herr Heinrich von Heyden-Cadow, the Minister of Agriculture. After listening to the spokesman of the deputation the Emperor made a gracious reply. He expressed his satisfaction that the deputation had come to him personally, and assured them that he would never relax his care for agriculture. He afterwards conversed with each member of the deputation on farm questions. He bade adieu to the deputation with many cordial expressions of good will. In spite of outward appearances and newspaper statements it is asserted that the conflict between Chancellor Von Caprivi and Count Botho Zu Eulenburg, respecting the anti-Socialist measures is not settled. On the contrary, the situation is said to be more critical than ever, and it has been asserted that at a recent conference of the Ministry bitter words were exchanged between the Chancellor and the Prussian Premier, owing to the latter insisting upon more severe measures than Caprivi was disposed to introduce in the Reichstag. The conference broke up with the Ministers entirely in disaccord. Since then, Emperor William has brought his influence to bear and the dispute was patched up. But Caprivi is still, to some extent, at variance with the Prussian Premier and inclined to resign the chancellorship rather than submit to the Reichstag measures with which he has no sympathy himself and which, moreover, he is convinced the Reichstag would not accept. Eulenberg, with the countenance of the Emperor, is credited with the desire to frame measures upon the most comprehensive basis, including a revision of the electoral law excluding unfit persons from the polls and raising the voting age, in addition to placing a restriction upon constitutional rights of assembly and association as well as restricting the liberty of the press. The Socialists have fully grasped the drift of these measures, and the Socialist organ, Vorwaerts, threatens that the party will ne out-and-out anti-governmental at all elections for the Diet as well as for the Reichstag. Hitherto the Socialists have refrained from active interference in the Diet

A deputation from the municipal council of Dantzic arrived in Berlin to-day to present Caprivi with the diploma of the freedom of that city. Dantzic is the first city to confer this honor upon the Chancellor.
A committe headed by Prince Schoenaich-Carolath has been formed to receive voluntary contributions to a fund to furnish Professor Behring's anti-diphtheria serum cure to poor diphtheria patients. The mu-nicipal authorities of Berlin have set aside the sum of 6,000 marks to be devoted to supplying the serum to the four principal hospitals of the city until the end of the year, when the manufacture of serum, it is expected, is to be taken out of private hands. The serum is now being prepared on a large scale at the Professor's laboratory in this city. Veterinary surgeon Casper until recently a professor in the Veterinary College at Charlottenberg, superintends the complicated and difficult mode of inoculating with the fluid the score of horses needed for the purpose and afterwards obtaining the infected and minimized blood from the animals, which is subsequently transformed in the laboratory into the healing serum itself. The cure is now being introduced into the municipal hospitals of this city, Hemburg, Dresden, Breslau, Konlgsberg and

Ex-Empress Frederick to-day arrived at the castle of Rumpenheim to be present at the accouching of her daughter, the Prinis Frederick Charles of Hesse, who was delivered of a son. The ex-Empress will stay at the castle for a month, and will then come to this city. Prince Bismarck will leave Varzin for Friedrichsruhe on Nov. 1, but before that time he will receive a joint deputation from Pomerania and Hanover. Bismarck's ealth continues to be satisfactory, though he no longer walks out in the open air. The Socialists are preparing for their party convention at Frankfort-on-Main toorrow, and a flery struggle for supremacy is expected between the two hostile wings led, respectively, by Bebel and Liebknecht, and by Vollmar and Gullenberger, the latter two being the leaders of the moderates. The Prussian government has consented to a national celebration on Dec. 9 in honor of the 300th anniversary of the birth of Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden, and the Protestant clergymen everywhere are

CHINESE DISASTERS.

Thirty People Burned and Many

Others Drowned. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20 .- The mail from the Orient by steamers City of Pekin and Australia brings news of a disastrous fire during September at Chung Kiang, near Hong Kong. Over thirty people were burned to death, two thousand houses were destroyed, including two temples, and a total loss of ten million taels entailed.

Disastrous floods are reported in northeast China. A rich agricultural district 150 miles long and ten to thirty miles wide was submerged. Many women and children were drowned and an enormous property loss suffered.

Hungarian Miners Mangled.

BUDA PESTH, Oct. 20 .- A terrific explosion of fire damp occurred to-day in the Anina colliery. Fifteen dead and twenty wounded miners have already been brought to the mouth of the pit, and it is feared that there are still other dead and wounded

WRECKED BY NEWSPAPERS.

Pittsburg's Discretionary Pools, "Get-Rich-Quick" Concerns, on the Rocks.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 20 .- The discretionary pool system is on the rocks in Pittsburg. These concerns have been springing up almost daily in this city, and it is estimated that they now hold between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000, representing 50,000 investors. Their clients are workingmen, domestics, washwomen and others who are dazzled by the prospects of securing anywhere from 20 to 100 per cent. a month on their investments. Many men have mortgaged their homes and placed the money in the pools. It is common talk that the trustees of one or two estates have also risked the money in their charge with these concerns. For several days past the local newspapers have been showing up the impossibility of these pools lasting any length of time, and alleging irresponsibility of the managers. This morning these publications had their effect, and there was a panic-stricken rush of investors upon a discretionary pool known as the "Public Stock Exchange." As soon as the rush began the managers announced that they were the victims of a conspiracy by the banks and fell back upon a clause in their agreement by which they can require several days' notice of withdrawal. A short time later a run began on the "Pittsburg Syndicate." Investors were paid until noon, when the manager announced that the concern would only pay during banking hours and would resume at 9 a. m. Monday. The panic is spreading, and it is anticipated that within the next three days every discretionary pool in the city will be wiped out. A discretionary pool is a combination or syndicate, in which the money is deposited to be invested according to the direc-tors' discretion in stocks, bonds, grain or provisions. Monthly dividends are declared out of the profits. A number of these pools have been in operation for several months and dividends have been declared regularly. The police raided the discretionary pool establishment at 5 o'clock this afternoon and arrested eight men.

LAST OF THE BRECKINRIDGE CASE.

Notice of Appeal Filed by the Colonel's Attorneys Dismissed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 .- The Breckinridge-Pollard case is now formally out of court, the notice of appeal given by Colonel Breckinridge at the close of the trial having been docketed and dismissed on motion of Calderon Carlisle, Miss Pollard's counsel. The action of the court was merely one of form, counsel for Breckinridge having failed to follow up their notice of appeal by further proceedings within the time provided by law. This ends the case, with a judgment for $15,000 standing in Miss Pollard's favor against Colonel Breckinridge. Though the judgment stands on record in the court, the general opinion here is that Miss Pollard will be unable to collect, as Colonel Breckinridge is not known to have any property which can be attached to satisfy it.

Sunday School Institute.

The Indianapolis Sunday School Institute will hold its fall meeting at Holy Innocents Church, corner of Fletcher avenue and Cedar street, on Monday, beginning at 3 p. m. The evening session will open at 7:30 p. m. The subjects of interest to all will be presented for discussion and are as fellows: "Infant Class Teaching," sented by Mrs. Ransford. Infant class teachers of the different parishes and missions are especially requested to be prepared to express their views upon this sub-"The Preparation of Teachers for their Work," opened for discussion by the Rev. J. H. Ranger. 7:30 p. m. the Rev. C. S. Sargent will present the subject of the leaflet; its value as auxiliary to the catechism in Sunday school instruction.

Sermon on Mendelssohn.

An evening with Mendelssohn will be given at the First Presbyterian Church this evening. Rev. M. L. Haines will talk of 'Life Lessons from a Master in Sacred Music." There will be numerous musical selections, all from compositions of Mendelssohn. Among those to be given are the quartets, "Jesus, the Hope of Souls Forlorn" and "Come, Holy Ghost;" a quintet, "I Waited for the Lord," Misses Schra-Johnson, Willard and Messrs. Wocher and Steinhilber; two harp solos, "Spring Song" and "Song Without Words," by Miss Myrtle Hart; a duet, "Arrayed in Golden Light," by Edwin Feller and Harry Smith, of Christ Church's vested choir; trios, organ numbers and hymns.

A Costume Entertainment. Joan of Arc, Miriam and her maids, Socrates and Xanthippe, the Cary sisters, Cleopatra, Mary Queen of Scots, Ruth and Naomi, Diogenes and his tub and many other famous characters in costume will take part in the entertainment given for the benefit of the building fund of the Friends' Boarding Home for Girls at Y. BUTLER PLANTED THE FORMER AND HONORED THE LATTER.

Patriotic Souls Stirred in Their Depths by the Beautiful Occasion of Arbor Day-Class Yells.

At the last meeting of the board of directors of Butler University it was decided to hereafter celebrate Oct. 20 as Butler Arbor day. Consequently a half holiday was given yesterday and all college classes were invited to participate in the observance. By 10 o'clock yesterday morning the campus presented an unusually festive appearance. The collegians gathered in the shadow of the college building, and after a short address by Dr. A. R. Benton the National hymn was sung. The seniors then led the way to the spot selected for planting their tree. The sapling was ornamented with the class flower, Marechal Niel roses, tied with streamers of the colors, white and yellow. A poem, written by Miss Edna Arnold, '95, of the theological department, was read by Miss Georgia Galvin. The wearers of the yellow and white then gave their class yell:

"Goodness, gracious! sakes alive! Hurrah for the class of '95." and the crowd moved on to the spot where the members of '96' were gathered. After a rousing class yell they announced that they had six trees to plant and would be too busy for further exercises.

The sophomores made an unusually good

The sophomores made an unusually good showing. The numerous members of the class were liberal in the use of their colors, and dark blue and yellow seemed suddenly to be waving from all sides. The slender sapling was bound with blue and yellow bunting. After an amusing dialect poem by Miss Jessie Christian, the class gave its yell and followed the lead of '98. The exercises of this class consisted of a dialogue between two of the young men as they planted their trees, and the jokes and hits were received with great applause. were received with great applause.

The preparatory classes followed for '99, a hard maple, floating ribbons of old rose and white was planted, Miss Ethel Roberts dedicating it with a poem. The class of 1900 planted a mountain ash, gay in satin streamers of light blue and cardinal; and 1901 started an apple tree. Two alumni classes participated in the exercises. The class of '88 had two repre sentatives present, Prof. Hugh Miller and Mr. J. C. Smith. Together they sang a number of their old class songs and broke a bottle of old champagne over the roots of the classic elm, which they set in the ground in memory of '88. "The Girls of '94" then led the way to the gynasium building and planted an ivy at the foot of the tall smoke-stack. A few bricks were removed from the wall and a marble slab, on which was carved "The Girls of '94," was inserted. The girls and the ivy wore the crimson ribbons familiar in the college halls last year. As every class had given its own yell numerous times, most voices were hoarse, but a sounding cheer went up for '94 when each girl dropped a souvenir of college days upon the ivy roots. In sight of the unfurled flag then all joined in singing the "Star-spangled Banner," and a final round of cheers was given for "old glory." This was Butler's first Arbor day for many years, and the beauty of the day, the enclass colors made it eminently successful Besides the collegians proper many friends and alumni of the university were present.

CAPT. GOOD'S MEN WIN.

The Quakers Distanced in the Football Sprinting Yesterday.

Twenty-two boys wearing shaggy hair and soiled canvas suits tumbled about over the dust and grass at the East Ohio-street ball park yesterday afternoon. It was a quiet little game of football, as football games go, between the high school teams of Richmond and Indianapolis. The players were younger looking than college men, but otherwise they had the regulation appearance with their nose masks, their limping and their bruises. The home players had had experience against the Butler eleven as well as other high school teams and were positive of victory. The Richmond boys, who had bumped against Earlham College players, were hopeful, but their captain denied before the game that they had claimed the State high school championship. About a score of sympathizers accompanied them, wearing long ribbons of old gold and royal purple. The Richmond team standing in the field was obviously lighter than the Indianapolis eleven. It averaged 150 pounds in weight, while the local team averaged ten pounds more. The Indianapolis boys were distinguished by black stars on their backs and by a more solled and veteran appearance. The game was all their way from the start, ending with a score of 38 to 0. About three hundred spectators swarmed up and down the field with the shifting, tumbling players. They included a liberal number of small boys who had climbed the fence. A semi-circle of pretty girls looked down from the boxes over the grand stand and waved the blue and white colors of the local eleven. There was a complication of Indianapolis cheers, while the Richmond rahs were infrequent and were groaned down in mockery. Local supporters soon began spelling "soup" with slow, distinct and derisive enunciation, aimed at the Richmond boys.

The elevens lined up as follows: Indianapolis. Richmond. Dean......Right end....E. Stranahan Parker.....Right tackle......L. Lamb Buchtel ..... Right guard ...... A. Mote . Moore....... Center .......R. Dugan . Schleicher....Left guard......R. Charles M. Good (capt.)..Left tackle...R. Alexander W. Hall.....Quarter back.....O. Moore K. Winter...Right half back....B. Bartel I. Foxworthy..Left half back.(capt.)E. Mote R. Rinehart ...... Full back ........ A. Bundy

Arthur Dill, of Richmond, acted as referee, Harry Griffith, of this city, as umpire, and John Nichols, of Indianapolis, as line-Indianapolis kicked the ball at the start.

Richmond quickly lost it on downs, and within four minutes Parker, a young man distinguished by red stockings, heavy weight and good playing, had made the first touchdown, scoring four points. Rinehart failed to kick goal. Richmond then kicked the ball far iuto the local team's territory. Foxworthy, Winters and Parker came threading their way back with it, and Foxworthy made the second touchdown, which, with a goal kick, raised the score The visitors were broken to pieces by the good interference of the home players in assistance of their squirmy runners. Most of the Indianapolis boys' gains were made in runs. Richmond's playing was confined almost wholly to bucking the line. Richmond managed to stop the local team after the next kick off and made a little progress by screwing through the center with E. Mote carrying the ball. They lost the ball and once more gained it on downs. and again tried bucking. This was ineffectual and they kicked the pig skin far down the field. Parker made a heavy dash with it, followed up by Winters in a twenty-five-yard run, and then a series of rams sent Parker across the line for the third touchdown. Goal was missed and the score stood 14 to 0 at the end of the first half. The Indianapolis boys scored more rapidly in the second half. Parker, Rinehart and Good darted through the tangles of Richmond players, and Winters was pushed across the goal line. The ball was kicked far down the field, Dugan got it and ran twenty yards with good interference. Then Parker made a break with the ball from the center of the field and scored. The local players had little trouble in pushing their opponents before them, and Winters made the sixth touchdown. The game was nearing an end when Parker had to be taken out on account of an injury to his right knee. A new player, Holliday, came in and started off with two long runs, after which Sickles scored the seventh touchdown.

The Richmond boys did their best playing just before the close of the game. Their plays were confined to bucking against the line, and they managed to get the ball within fifteen yards of goal, but this only lelayed the home players and kept them from making more points. No goals were missed in the second half, and seven touchdowns and five goal kicks made the score 38 to 0 in favor of the Indianapolis High
